

MONETARY DIVERSITY GATHERING

THE 'MONEY QUESTION' IS BACK ON THE TABLE.

As Europe faces growing economic, social and ecological challenges, new questions emerge about the role of money in shaping resilient territories, public action and collective prosperity.

The Monetary Diversity II (MDG2) brings together people who are actively designing, researching and implementing monetary innovations across Europe and beyond.

Over three days, practitioners, academics, public officials, technologists and community builders will exchange experiences, explore emerging tools and build collaborations around the future of monetary systems.

WHY ATTEND?

Monetary systems influence local economies, public policies, territorial resilience, social inclusion and ecological transition. Yet these systems often remain invisible.

MDG2 creates a space to:

- Discover innovative monetary tools and practices
- Learn from real-world implementations
- Connect with leading practitioners and researchers
- Explore the future of territorial and public finance
- Build partnerships across sectors and countries

This is not only a conference. It is a working gathering designed for people who want to move from ideas to implementation.

WHO IS IT FOR?

- Practitioners
- Public Authorities
- Researchers & Academics
- Technologists
- Civil Society & Social Economy Actors
